Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The time has come when we should once again reevaluate our time-honored Honor "W" award. We won't get away quite so easily this time, though, because we cannot escape the fact that something must be done, not just talked about. The list of inequities is endless.

First, the Honor "W" honors again, and unnecessarily, our athletes, who have had their fair share of approbation. Not only are there assemblies nearly every week of the football season; the athletes have their own honor award, unless the Letterman recognition is for abecedarian champions. The same arguments can be used against the National Honor Society. Surely the NHS's contribution to the lives of its members and to the school as a whole cannot even compare to that of clubs such as the Key Club or FTA.

Second, the Honor "W" fosters, although perhaps unintentionally, the type of "Wonder Clubbie" so common to cliquish schools everywhere. How frequently do we see "Wonder Clubbies" at meetings other than those at which they pay their dues? More common is the Clubbie who graciously attends his favorite club's meeting, but only for so long as it takes him to sign the roll.

A third, less-important point, but still one which cannot be overlooked, is how truly honorary the award really is. When nearly a quarter of the senior class receives the award, its value as an honor rapidly diminishes. Diamonds wouldn't be worth peanuts if everybody had one.

Any traditions must certainly be subordinate to these objections. It would be irresponsible to end without some suggestion of how to redress the Honor "W's" faults. Though it is indeed rough and indefinite, the following plan, when polished, may be an answer, if not the answer. Let each sponsor select the top ten percent of his club to receive the points for that organization. These people would naturally, be those who contributed the most. Only a few outstanding members would receive the maximum number of points. In addition, a member who has given of himself as much as he can, although it might not be as much as someone else since he is hampered by a job, could be considered even though he might not ordinarily be.

Unfortunately, an improvement such as this on the present system could not be implemented this year. Hopefully, the problem will be given due consideration and a positive course of action will be taken as soon as possible. An injustice to the students and a travesty on education such as this is cannot be allowed to continue any longer.

Sincerely,
Richard Zippel

Remember Kent

A hard-faced young man walked into W. T. White High School wearing a button with the words "4 Dead" inscribed on it. The "4 Dead" for whom he was protesting were to two male and two female students who were killed at Kent State University during a demonstration.

We were not informed as to why the demonstration, intended to be an anti-war rally, became a riot or why the National Guard was called.

No one burned any buildings that day.

Four people were killed.

The nagging, moral question is, "Why?" Since the demonstration was supposedly unlawful why were the students allowed to assemble in the first place? Why were National Guardsmen forced to defend themselves by blind shooting?

The National Guardsmen are people with the same inherent drive for self-preservation. But was it necessary for self-preservation to shoot blindly into a crowd?

We may speculate at present the situation, which will follow the Kent tragedy. Those four students will be immortalized by students all over the nation.

And because that hard-faced young man was suspended for wearing a symbol of protest in a public school, hundreds more will remember the "Kent Massacre", the deaths of those who dared to speak what they pleased.

The Exalted

The all-knowing,
The all-seeing,
The all-deceiving
And omnipotent.
With the wisdom of the prophets,
The knowledge of whole libraries,
And the ideals of the lofty,
He is eager.

He is infinitely hopeful,
But with the gall of all men.
He is ...
The high school student.

by Alan Galpert

Prayer

Kneel, kneel slave;
Bow your head and pray
To a million little men
Huddled over sheet metal desks;
Lift your hands
To a dead concrete monstrosity
Of your own making;
Prostrate yourselves;
Grovel in the dirt and broken glass;
But don't ask me to worship
Your empty hulk.
I hope you die on your knees.

On Student Apathy

By RICHARD SAUNDERS

Student Apathy. Although this is the most important issue we have to deal with in our school, nowhere is it more evident, and tragic, than in this newspaper. The Hoofbeat should be the students' paper and the students should contribute to and support it; they do neither. Only a few students have contributed editorials, poems, articles, or other material to the paper. It is sad when the letters to the editor have to be written by the editor.

Since the students don't contribute to the paper, they don't care about it and don't buy it; sales average about 600 per issue and the last issue sold only 425 copies, tremendous support in a school of 2200.

So this message was placed in this Senior Issue, which is purchased by a majority of the student body. You might want to think it over a little and contribute material to the paper next year. You might also buy a few copies of it.

Environment

We would like to thank Mr. Golden for allowing us to have our program on the population explosion and pollution, and we would like to thank all of those who came. We hope that you learned something and that you have thought about it a little bit.

It is also our hope that your concern for these problems will not end here; we hope that there will be similar programs and concern next year, because these problems can do nothing but become more serious as time passes.

By GARY JACOBS

I hope you have all enjoyed reading my articles this year as much as I have enjoyed writing them. I have decided to conclude my literary career by relating the true story of my life.

A HETEROSEXUAL TALE

NOTE: This is a story about my life; hence the title. I am not about to entitle a story about my life "A Fairy Tale"

Once upon a time, a young, wonderful baby boy was born to Gloria and Sanford Jacobs. It was evident from birth that little Gary, the baby, was not just any infant, but someone very special. When Gary and his family left the manger, it was the first time his family realized that young Gary was very handsome. He had the eyes of Paul Newman, the nose of Dustin Hoffman, and the build of Johnny Weismuller. Gary also demonstrated an extreme amount of intelligence at his early age. In fact, his first words were "Lexicons are redundant."

Walk in Retrospect

Symbolism has its limits, one of those being that it stops where maturity begins. Although symbolic gestures such as the Walk for Development undoubtedly serve a purpose, it goes without saying that the time and energy expended on them could undoubtedly be better spent in pre constructive activities.

The money earned could just as easily have been contributed outright, while those who walked could have cleaned slums, built or repaired houses, fixed up schools, or involved themselves in innumerable types of volunteer work. If a gauge of effort is all that necessary, however, a certain amount of money could have been given for every ten letters a volunteer wrote to the soldiers in Vietnam. That at least would have developed their morale, while all this did was develop calf muscles.---

Stomping Ground

By JULIE NORMAN

As the year draws to a close, the seniors count the remaining hours and the sophomores and juniors count the remaining years.

Since this is my last issue, I would like to make, instead of senior prophecies, senior awards--awards that every senior would make.

"Speedy Service" goes, without a doubt, to the transcript office, who is still sending out transcripts filed last October.

"Apathy" goes to the junior class for their fine turnout in all the elections. We thought, in comparison to last year's seniors, that Seniors '70 were apathetic, but--leave it to those juniors to be a better (?) group of teeny-boppers than us.

ASCL (Anti-Social Climbers League) gets an axe, so for all you social climbers--watch out because that ladder may fall!

Almost last but not least, the Dallas Independent School District will receive the "Compassion" Award with a copy of "How to Handle Those Rebellious Teenagers Effectively!"

Last and least, I wish to thank most of that wonderful HOOFBEAT staff most of the time for most (??) of their hard work.

Serious thanks go without doubt to (Uncle) Ramon Ford for his devotion and dedication to the HOOFBEAT and its staff.

When Gary had successfully completed kindergarten, elementary school, junior high, and high school in a period of two and a half months, he had his mother and father sent to Happy Acres Home for the Aged Parents of Child Prodigies.

Gary received many honors in his schooling career. Some of these were: First place in the Paul Newman eyes contest; First place in the Dustin Hoffman nose contest; and Second place in the Johnny Weismuller build contest. (Johnny Weismuller won First place, but it was close).

After Gary had invented the atomic bomb, ended World War II, and aided in the selection of President Truman's cabinet, he decided it was time for him to go to college.

The rest of Gary's life is history. He went on to make this world a better place in which to live. And there are those who say that he is still alive... living and breathing somewhere in a high school in Dallas, Texas. We can only hope and pray. SHALOM.

Dr. S. Lewis Johnson Baccalaureate Speaker

Doctor S. Lewis Johnson will be the guest speaker at the Baccalaureate services for graduating W.T. White seniors to be held Sunday, May 24, at 3:30 p.m. in the McFarlin Auditorium.

He is currently professor of the Greek New Testament at the Theological Seminary in Dallas and has held this post for 20 years. Dr. Johnson has been pastor of several churches and is presently a teaching elder at Believers Chapel on Churchill Way.

Dr. Johnson studied at the College of Charleston in Charleston, South Carolina. It was during his work there that he was also a champion amateur golfer. He admits that he still enjoys playing a round of golf. He earned his Masters of Theology and his doctorate at the Theological Seminary in Dallas. He continued his graduate work at SMU, Edinborough University in Scotland, and Basel University in Switzerland.

Dr. Johnson has taken time to write articles for periodicals and is a member of the Society of Biblical Literature. At present, he is engaged in a joint project with a number of men in working on a new translation of the New Testament from the Greek. He was also involved in the work on the Berkeley version of the Bible.

On the subject of student unrest throughout the nation, Dr. Johnson feels that the primary cause is the fact that many of the young people have lost a sense of authority and both older and younger people have lost their sense of relation to God. He feels that some of the things which have transpired have been "genuine aspirations" for betterment socially and economically. He feels young people realize that their lives are not ideal and they develop a sense of meaningless, hopelessness, and rebellion. They have lost touch with God. Dr. Johnson feels the solution is to recapture man's relationship with the "God of the Bible."

At the Baccalaureate services, Dr. Johnson plans to speak to the seniors on the meaning of the stage they have arrived at in life, how they can understand their next step, and reach life's goals, the highest of which is an understanding of God. Senior class officers will present the invocation and benediction, and senior members of the choir will sing inspirational songs at the service.

Dr. S. Lewis Johnson,
Baccalaureate Speaker

Seniors Give Portrait

Each year, the senior class presents to Warren Travis White a gift which can either serve future students or enhance the beauty of the school.

This year, the 1970 senior class decided to present the school with a portrait of former principal John J. Santillo. The presentation of this portrait will be made by the class officers at the Senior Day Assembly, May 22.

W. T. White's Student Council is also leaving a gift to the student body. It had been suggested that the council leave the school a statue of Knowles Cornwell, but a stereo was decided upon instead, unfortunately.

Students will be able to play records or listen to the radio during senior lounge or lunch periods next year.

Choir, Orchestra, Band Compete in UIL Events

This year the Warren Travis White Choirs, Band, and Orchestra participated in the annual U.I.L. contests. Girls' Choir got a "2" in concert and a "3" in sightreading. Concert Choir made a "2" in concert and a "4" in sightreading.

Tuesday the band received all ones at the "Dallas Contest" held at Bryan Adams High School.

Students Elect Council Officers

April 23, 1970 marked Warren Travis White's annual Student Council Elections.

Plans for this election have been in the making since the beginning of this school year. After many hours of careful consideration of new ideas and possibilities, two major changes were made. First, the seniors were not allowed to vote. The main reason for this decision was because the seniors would be representing them next year.

The second change concerned the election assembly. It was generally agreed that the students voting for candidates did not get a clear picture from one or two speeches of the candidates' potential. To help remedy this problem, questions were submitted by the student body. The candidates for president were then questioned during the assembly, to give the student body an idea of how the candidate would react to different situations.

Candidates for junior-member-at-large were Rob Cloud, Rick O'Conner and Jim Salih. Rick and Jim were chosen to represent next year's juniors. For senior member-at-large, Barbara Aigner and Debi Wiksten were elected. The candidate for treasurer was Sheri Wolfe and the candidate for secretary was Susan White.

Tom Doell, Brian Long and Carlton Kupp, ran for president. After a very close election, Carlton Kupp was elected as the W. T. White Student Council new president. Brian Long will be next year's vice-president.

At the election assembly, this year's Student Council President, Knowles Cornwell, gave an excellent farewell speech which won him an ovation from the student body.

White Holds Art Festival

Warren Travis White's fourth annual Fine Arts Festival was held Monday, May 8, in the school auditorium.

All fine arts departments were represented in the event. The program began at five in the afternoon with a continuous showing of clothes from the sewing classes and modeled by the girls who had created the outfits. Soloists and ensembles from the choir, band and orchestra performed in the courtyard entrance amid a grand display of individual exhibits.

A number of parents and students came to view the student art displayed in the lobby. There were exhibits made up of portraits, still lifes, printing, sculpture, plaster-of Paris, woodworking, weaving, bookbinding, electric works, chalk sketches, and self-portraits.

In the evening, the Grand Concert was held in the auditorium. The program opened with the Warren Travis White Orchestra conducted by Mr. Chris P. Xeros. Following their performance was the Concert Choir directed by Miss Lou Ann Williams. The Girls' Choir next sang two numbers. Mr. William Morgan directed the Concert Band in "Incantation and Dance," "Concerto Grosso", featuring soloists Ellen Elliot, Kathy King, and Howard Galletti, was conducted by student director James Payne from North Texas State University.

Another student director, Robert Brandengerger from SMU, conducted "Alla Barocco" and "Concerto for Two Trombones" with soloists John Davis and Steve Wetter. The combined Concert Choirs sang "O Bella Fasa" and "With the Voice of Praise and Thanksgiving." After these two numbers, all choirs joined the band and orchestra for the finale "Hymn for Our Time" conducted by Mr. Morgan.

As the school year comes to a close, the ROTC unit at Warren Travis White is receiving many awards and honors.

A four-year scholarship was recently granted to Bob Stewart and Ben Weston, two officers in the ROTC. The scholarships include all expenses, except room and board, plus a monthly $50 apending allowance. Bob Stewart, third in command of the 18th Battalion, plans to attend Texas A&M, and Ben Weston, Battalion Commander, plans to become a student at the Virginia Military Institute.

69-70: A Year to Remember . . .

The Longhorn Varsity football team always provided a good exhibition. Their fast-action could be seen as in this field goal which defeated Hillcrest.

As the season progressed more action prevailed. The final record posted by the Horns was 4-6.

The golf team put their talents together and dashed through their season undefeated. Coach Fulton organized the squad.

The Varsity Basketball Team did everything that could be asked of them. The 24-5 record they compiled explains it very clearly. They finished second, 1 game behind TJ.

Compiled by Jay Walters

Whenever everyone jammed Loos to watch the Horns play, something was sure to happen.

It was a repeat performance for the swimteam as they captured the city, district and region titles. Each varsity swimmer gives everything he had in obtaining the success they enjoyed.

The Varsity Tennis Team under Coach Argueller, enjoyed a successful season and captured the district title with fine exhibitions of playing.

Even though the White Track Team got a slow start in the season, the sophomore team came alive later in the season to capture the District title.

Both the "A" and "B" baseball squads put out concentrated efforts during the season; the "B" team dynamically completed a 9-1 season campaign.

'Senioritis' Spreads Among '70 Graduates White Senior Activities Approach Fast

The next time you see a senior ask him how much time is left until graduation. If he's more than three seconds off, you know he isn't a true senior.

For "senioritis" has taken over the class of '70 in epidemic proportions and visions of freedom and gaiety dance in their head with the expectation of the senior activities and that 12-year long waited event--GRADUATION!!

The senior activities start off with the regal and formal tone of the senior prom, which is being held this year in the International Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel in May 15, from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m.

Then, seniors walk across White's stage on Senior Day, May 22, in a morning assembly before the student body. At that time, the Valedictorian, Salutatorian and Honor Graduates will be announced.

Next, on Sunday, May 24, the Baccalaureate Services will be held in McFarlin Auditorium, starting at 3:30 in the afternoon. Dr. S. Lewis Johnson, Professor of Greek of Dallas Theological Seminary, will be the guest speaker.

The next day the all-day picnic takes place at the Austin Dude Ranch with only seniors attending.

Finally, on that red letter day, May 29, the graduating class of 1970 will bid a fond farewell to their alma mater in graduation ceremonies in Moody Coliseum. Former White principal John J. Santillo will be the guest speaker.

Later that night, from midnight to 5:00 a.m., the senior all-night party will be at Brookhaven Country Club. Other senior activities include many informal gatherings at which time some seniors will forget that they are seniors and what world they are on. WHOOPEE!

Jaycees Honor Faculty

Mrs. Annell Barentine, an English teacher here at White, was honored by the Jaycees and the Dallas Independent School District recently when she was named the recipient of the Young Educator of the Year award for Dallas high schools.

Though this is only the third year the Jaycees have presented their award, W. T. White had dominated the scene. Last year, Mr. William Morgan, of stage band fame, received the award. Now, Mrs. Barentine's honor makes it two out of three.

In order to be eligible for the coveted award, Mrs. Barentine was first named as the nominee for White High School. Then, she had to write an essay relating her views on education. This was followed by letters of recommendation from the principal and various faculty members here at White. Then, a committee of Jaycees made the big decision.

Mrs. A. Barentine works hard after her award.

ASSEMBLY PROVES TASTE

It is encouraging to know that there are at least a few (if only a very few) half-way decent ideas for assemblies left. It took the Senior Pay Assembly to breathe new life into my near-buried hope. It is fashionable, and indeed appropriate, to lambast most things, but I can thankfully say that the Senior Pay Assembly was not one of them. Without being too obvious in my praise of a production by my own class, I feel that such an extraordinary happening is deserving of as much as can be spared from a generally dry-wit writer. Indeed, I heard compliments from members of all classes and walks of life, so the "senior" in the title is indicative only of who produced it, and not of who enjoyed it.

All in all, the assembly was in very good taste (although the rice that the Chinaman threw up must not have been). This was perhaps not due to the enthusiastic desire of those involved to make it clean and wholesome, but it turned out that way, anyway. At least Johnny Carson doesn't have to worry about graduating with his class; and judging by his performances, he probably never did.

The stage band was great - it really kept the program moving. Merv Griffin has already turned in his resignation - he heard about Gary and decided that he was licked. Moreover, entertainment world - the W. T. White Seniors are coming on strong.

FTA GIVES AWARDS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Under the charming atmosphere of Jamies', the annual FTA awards Banquet got under way on April 29, 1970, at 6:00 p.m. It was a sad time for seniors because it meant

It has been a truly memorable year for the Future Teachers of America.

Students gather to help clean-up the White School ground.

Horns Really 'Clean Up'

A cleaner and more inviting school resulted from the 1970 Warren Travis White Spring Cleanup on Saturday, April 11, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Mark Williams led the group of about 200 or 300 students. Almost all organizations in the school, such as the Key Club, Future Teachers, Future Homemakers, Mu Alpha Theta, etc. participated in the clean-up.

A great amount of work was put into this project. Students washed walls, windows, and stairs, removed black marks from the floors, and scraped gum and bitter pads from the lunch tables. They mowed and edged the yard, and even planted shrubs in the front of the school.

After the work was done, the group of students gathered in the boy's gym for a dance which they called the "Janitor's Ball." Music was provided by a band called "Together" from SMU.
