Walton, Wildfong, Lambreth Elected

By DALE McCALEB

The 1967-68 Student Council officers have been elected. The president will be Steve Walton; vice president, John Wildfong; and secretary, Mary Beth Lambreth.

Those who wished to be an officer were given a deadline to sign up in Mr. Densmore's room. Their grades were then checked for a 'B' average. Each candidate was allowed to put up two campaign posters. They then wrote their speeches to be reviewed in front of the sponsors. The sponsors were Mr. Densmore, Mrs. Smith, Miss Fraser, and Mr. Ansley. The day came when the speeches were to be given to the seventh and eighth grades, but the actual voting occurred in the homerooms.

Later the winners of the excelnounced: Walton, Wildfong, and Lambreth are to lead next year's student body.

MR. LITTLEFIELD By DAVID HOLCOMB

Mr. Don Littlefield is Marsh's new physical education teacher. He was born in Dallas and attended Texas Technological College. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1965 and his Masters in physical education in 1966. Before coming to Marsh, he taught at William L. Cabell Elementary School.

Mr. Littlefield likes all sports.

MISS GALLAGHER

If you have noticed a cute, pixieike blonde buzzing around Marsh this semester, it is probably Miss Gallagher. This is her first semester to teach (maybe why she still has that big smile??), and her area is seventh and eighth grade language arts.

She was born in Boston, but moved to Dallas eight years ago (in an effort toward improvement.)

Graduated in January of 1967 from East Texas State, she was corresponding secretary of har sorority, secretary of the junior class, and on the Dean's List.

She will continue teaching next year, but with a new name. The wedding is June 10th.

When she is not checking roll, instructing, grading papers, and frowning at students, she likes to read, water ski, listen to music, and (we hope) keep house.

MRS. SMITH

By DOLORES ZACCARIA

At Marsh, there is a new addition to the faculty, Mrs. Smith. She teaches the eighth grade language arts classes that Mr. Newman had before he became viceprincipal at Amelia Earhart Elementary School.

Mrs. Smith graduated from SMU and did her practice teaching in Houston, where she is originally from. While her husband was in the Navy for three years, they lived in Long Beach, California. Part of this time, Mrs. Smith taught freshman courses in college.

She likes golf, oil paintings, teenagers, and Marsh very much.

Band, Strings Win

By SUE CLOSSER

Recently the band went to the Thomas Jefferson Festival of Bands. Several bands in the Dallas area competed against one another and received ratings according to how well they played.

The Matador Band received the rating of excellent. A few weeks later, the band and orchestra went to the Dallas Contest held at Hillcrest High School. This is when all the bands and orchestras in the Dallas area receive their rating for the year.

Both organizations worked extremely hard for the contest and the results proved it. The band received superior rating for the year and the orchestra rated excellent.

Chorus Presents Fling Highland Style Show

in the background, an elderly, gray-haired, Scottish gentleman named Mr. Lundi (Mark Williams) welcomed the people in the audience to a "gathering o' the clans." Mr. Lundi called six Scottish clans, and all marched down the aisles, with their coat of arms carried before them.

That's how "A Highland Fling," the ninth grade chorus's spring musical, began. Conducted by Mr. Tom Council, accompanied by Bill Lindburg on the piano and Henry King on the drums, the chorus sang its way through an hour of Scottish songs, dances, and stories. The first half of the musical was traditonal Scottish tunes. The second part was the music "an' a bit o' stagin' from Brigadoon," the musical with lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner and music by Fredericke Loewe.

After the clans were behind the curtain, the chorus sang "Scotland the Brave" and "Scots Wha Ha'e Wi Wallace Bled," as Mr. Lundi gave a brief history of Scotland.

According to Mr. Lundi, the Scots have beautiful love songs, such as "Ye Banks and Braes," the next song performed by the chorus. "Bonnie George Campbell," the story of a loung man who rode away from home and whose horse returned home riderless, was sung by the girls' ensemble. Members of the ensemble are Becky Beard, Nancy Boyd, Mary Fuller, Margaret Hale, Fredna Howard, Cindy Martin, Lynda Rush, Becky Terrill, Susan Thompson and Lou Turner.

The chorus changed from love songs to familiar Scottish tunes, "By Yon Bonnie Banks" and a lively version of "Comin' Through the Rye." A switch from wellknown songs to Robert Burns was made when Lynda Rush sang her lovely solo "My Heart Is Sair I Daurna Tell." Another Robert Burns favorite, "Auld Lang Syne," was sung by the chorus, and as "Scotland the Brave" was repeated, the curtain closed on the first part of "A Highland Fling."

When intermission ended and the lights were dimmed, Mr. Lundi to the women's lounge for the was talking to a lassie (Mary Wal- girls? lington) and a lad (Rob Cloud). The chorus sang "Brigadoon" and "Once in the Highlands" while Mr. Lundi began the story of Brigadoon.

The chorus broke into a rousing "Down on MacConnachy Square" when the curtains opened. The townspeople waved to each other and to their friends coming up from the aisles. When "MacConnachy Square" ended, a milk maid, (Fredna Howard) sang a little ditty to sell her milk, and "MacConnachy Square" was repeated.

Charlie (Tom Turet) came bounding over the bridge and sang a very gay "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean."

The girls' ensemble helped pack "Jennie's Packin' Up." Afterwards, Fiona (Debbie Russell) quite a few signatures, too. sang her very pretty solo, "Waitin" for My Dearie." The next song on the Hill."

Charlie stood outside Jeanne's (Louise Pryor) home and sang "Come to Me" as she danced a ballet.

April 27 in the Thomas C. Marsh was "Almost Like Being in Love." auditorium, as bagpipes wailed After the wedding, Jeanne started the Highland Fling, and four girls (Glenda Bland, Jeanne Rouget, Jackie Whetstone and Pam White) joined her.

> The music and dancing stopped as Harry Beaton (Frank Parks) charged up the bridge and threatened to leave Brigadoon, thereby break the spell and make Brigadoon disappear. The chorus sang "The Chase" and while the funeral march was played, Mr. Lundi said Harry died.

> The chorus sang "From This Day On" and repeated "Brigadoon" as the curtain closed on "A Highland Fling."

Behind the scenes were Mr. Adair, the set designer, Miss Strickland, the dama coach, Louise pryor, choreographer, Steve Bresnen, stage manager, Bill Flynt and Preston Conrad, lights, and Ricky Davis, in charge of sound.

503 9th Graders Invade Six Flags

By DANA WHITLEDGE

On the afternoon of May 19, 503 out of 602 ninth grade students poured out of Marsh and into after school and as soon as the last person was on board, they pulled out for Six Flags Over Texas.

There were nine buses with two chaperones on each. The students were free to do what they wished in Six Flags until 10:30 that night when they boarded the buses at the front gate. They were then taken back to Marsh where their parents picked them up.

The people responsible for planning and carrying out this event were the ninth grade room mothers with the help of the P. T. A., Some of the main people who planned the ninth grade party loss record. were Mrs. Bill McManemin, director of special activities for P.T.A. and the general chairmen of the Neal and Mrs. Doyle Brooks.

Marsh Chorus Groups Win With Contest Selections

By ADELE RICHMAN

Although the ninth grade chorus worked very hard on the spring now. Several performance invimusical, that was not the only thing the chorus has done this semester. Along with the band and orchestra the chorus made a record, which was sponsored by the Marsh P. T. The mixed and and especially for their patience. girls' ensembles were also recorded.

The chorus had been preparing all year for the contest at Bryan Adams High School, set for May 13. This contest only involved junior high choruses. Each of the eighteen groups sang before the judges and were graded in eight areas.

Mrs. Bond and Marsh's eighth grade chorus were also present at the contest. They sang "Finlandia" and "My Bonnie Lass She Smileth," and afterwards received a standing ovation . Their grade sheet backed up the ovation with six "A's" and two "B's." That score gave them a first division rating. This group was the only eighth grade chorus entered in the contest.

Mr. Council and the ninth grade chorus sang two selections, "I Beheld Her, Beautiful as a Dove" and 'Oh Come Ye Servants of the Lord." They also came home with a first division rating, the scores being seven "A's" and one

During her grade school years she won several red and blue ribbons on school field days.

Margaret then came to Marsh where she soon became an active student. She is in the honors program where she makes good grades and still has time to do other things and be friendly to everyone she meets. In the seventh grade she danced in the musical at Marsh; she also did this in the eighth grade. She was elected to the Student Council by her classmates during her years in the eighth and ninth grades. She has served on the sportsmanship committee of the Student Council this year. She was at Rusk this year for the presentation of the sportsmanship award.

> Born March 15, 1951, Wayne spent the first few years of his and his family moved to Dallas in 1955. He attended J. P. Russell Elementary School. While there, he was a Cub Scout until sports took over his interests.

Wayne takes his schooling seriously and also tries to help the school. He takes an active part in the Student Council and also is a member of the National Junior Honor Society.

Wayne is known as more of an outdoor man. He has lettered in tennis thee years, basketball two years, and football this year. This year on the varsity football team as first string quarterback, he lead Marsh to a six win-three loss record. After this as captain of the Marsh basketball team, Marsh had a seven win-two loss record. This included a game in which he scored twenty-seven points. Then on the tennis team he helped make Marsh number one and city champ. Wayne is a member of the John Calvin Presbyterian Church. His mother says that other than sports Wayne likes 'plenty of food" and books.

Next year he will attend Warren Travis White and, we hope, have This past year, one young man as fine a record as he has had at
